Welcome to the new marktaff.com! The software, including digiKam, that I plan to use for my new DAM system for my photos might not be ready for my plans until summer of 2009, so until then my photos & wallpapers will remain available from the archived version of my website, directly accessible via the photos link in the main menu.

I have also begun to roll out bits and pieces of the new system to become familiar with it and kill and grievous bugs.

If you click on any photo in the slide-shows, you will be prompted to download the uncropped, full size photo, but be aware that some of the photos may be 5-10MiB.
